Joe Shields, an EMMY-award winning filmmaker, will present his program, “Feeling Photography: Creating mood & eliciting emotion” at a meeting of the Delaware Photographic Society on Monday, March 26, at 7:30pm. In this inspiring and informative presentation, Joe shares how to infuse storytelling with technology to move audiences to action. The meeting is at Cokesbury Village, Auditorium C, 726 Loveville Road, Hockessin, DE 19707. It is Free and Open to the public.

Applying his unique perspective to business, Joe Shields has led global marketing, new product development, digital strategy and enterprise innovation for Fortune 100 companies in specialty chemicals, telecommunications, biopharmaceuticals and medical devices. He earned a BA from Temple University and an MBA from the Pennsylvania State University.

In addition to his day job, Joe is an experienced photographer specializing in evocative portraits, natural landscapes and everyday beauty. His portrait, wildlife and landscape photos have been published in several books and national magazines. Joe Shields’ work can be seen at www.joeshields.smugmug.com/browse.
